Rappelling

It is the controlled descent down a rope. Climbers use this technique when a cliff or slope is too steep or dangerous to descent without protection. Rappelling is a great activity to gain confidence and overcome ones's fear of heights.

Parasailing

It is truly a fun activity in which you enjoy the dramatic view of the landscape below from heights of 100 feet or more. A long rope is attached to the parasail harness at one end and to the boat/jeep at the other end. When the towline is tied and parasailer is ready, he/she takes a few steps and is lifted into the air with the parasail lifting behind him. As the wind rushes in to the parasail, it ifts you into the sky. There are harnesses that allow people to parasail in tandem.

Cave Exploration ( in Antaragange)

It is a recreational pastime of exploring wild (generally non-commercial) cave systems. The challenges involved in this activity depend on the cave being visited. Often it includes the negotiation of pitches, squeezes, and water (although actual cave diving is a separate sub-specialty undertaken only by very few cavers). Climbing or crawling is often necessary, and ropes are used extensively for safe negotiation of particularly steep or slippery passages. It is also called 'Spelunking'.

Tent Camp

Parkfield offers a unique camping experience for couples. Our tent camp is a portable, temporary, outdoor sleeping facility used by campers. Parkfield Resotel's tent camp is ideal for honeymooners. Customers are provided with comfortable beddings and a bottle of wine.
